DETAILED ACTION

Response to the Arguments

Regarding claims 22-25, both Dias and Junger clearly show slots. While the applicants note that these slots are "cuts", the terms are clearly interchangeable, as the applicants themselves use them both.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 17-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There is no mention in the disclosure that "the grooves are adapted and constructed to reduce transverse strains generated by bending such that the member is capable of bending to conform to a curved surface while maintaining electrical connections between adjacent ridges."

Claim 22-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Junger (US 3,111,595) in view of Dias (US 4,992,692). Junger shows (fig. 13) a substantially planar bimorph electroactive member (95) having slots defined in the member (not numbered), whereby the slots are adapted and constructed to reduce transverse strains generated by bending to multiply an electromechanical bending response of the bimorph member.

The device is an electromechanical sensor or actuator.

The slots are substantially parallel.

It is not specifically stated that his electromechanical member is ceramic. The slots are not concentric.

Dias shows (fig. 5) an electroactive ceramic member (36) with concentric rings (34). It is not a bimorph.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to employ a ceramic material with concentric rings in the device of Junger, at the time of his invention, in order to achieve the mechanical integrity of Dias's device in the device of Junger.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
